FOREWORD

The figure of Abraham Lincoln so dominated the history of Illinois during the nineteenth century that the consideration of his life apart from the history of the State of Illinois is almost impossible. Consequently, in preparing a selective check list of Lincoln material in the publications of the Illinois State Historical Society, complete separation of the two subjects was found to be difficult. We have, however, tried to confine the references to individuals and events having a direct bearing on the life of Lincoln. Articles which are wholly given to this subject were chosen for inclusion, and isolated references were excluded except where, in the opinion of the compiler, they seemed important. This was necessary in order to eliminate needless bulk and to obtain greater usefulness.

There will be found in the quarterly Journal, and the annual Publications the results of forty years work of the Society assembling important Lincoln data from research in State and County archives and newspaper files, studies of phases of his life and character by qualified scholars, and the recollections of many who knew him personally. Biographical sketches of Lincoln's closest associates in Illinois are important in that they often include information not apparent in material relating directly to him. This check-list is an attempt to make this mass of material more readily available to the Lincoln student.

The first of the Publications of the Illinois State Historical Society appeared in 1899. Number six to the latest volume are the Annual Transactions of the Society, with the exceptions of numbers 18 and 25, which are compilations of the genealogical material to be found in the historical library.

The Journal of the Society was begun in April, 1908, and has been published quarterly.

The Collections of the Illinois State Historical Library is a series of notable publications comprising, early laws, statistics and historical writings, the first of which was published in 1903.

Abbreviations

Journals, volume and number are designated in this list as: J 23:1, viz., (Journal Volume 23, No. 1.)

Publications are indicated as: P 12, viz., (Publication number 12.)

Page numbers are in parenthesis: (p. 62).

The Journals and Transactions were checked to the end of 1938. Blank pages at the end of the index may be used to continue the listing of material in future issues.
